Letter to Residents

What Are You Looking For?

It could be your keys, your glasses, or maybe even your mind if it's that kind of day. Looking for something implies two things: you don't know where it is, and you are determined to find it.

But what happens if you find something that you didn't even know you needed? That sums up what happened to our cover story family—Jeff, Colette, Isla, and Mia Vail. Jeff and Colette had lived in New York City for a while and when they wanted to buy a home to raise their children, they visited Nutley on the advice of a friend.

This was just the town they needed to create the life they envisioned! Although they were looking for a place to live, they found the place to live. Now, the entire family is exploring the town and finding their favorite businesses, restaurants, and playgrounds.

Sometimes, finding something is a way to make a situation better. Speak Strong is a youth-led initiative that provides free resources to under-privileged communities with a vision to mitigate the literacy problem prominent throughout America. Three Nutley High School seniors, Aashi Bhandari, Riya Patel, and Sara Sonnylal, are working toward this goal. Be sure to read the article and visit their website.

If you are looking for a book to read, the staff at the Nutley Public Library have chosen their top picks for the year. They also have recommendations for movies, music, and audiobooks. You will definitely find something new!

One of the librarians, Nick Van Dorn, met Alex Van Halen at a recent book signing event. We have a photo! You never know what—or who—you may find.

If you are looking for a pet, read about an adorable micro-Boston Terrier and a 5-month-old kitten who needs a home. You may find a new family member, and they might find their forever home.

Enjoy this issue! I hope you will find something on each page that makes you happy to be our Nutley Neighbors.

Feature Story

Around Every Corner

Jeff, Colette, Isla, and Mia Vail

By Joyce Corey

Feature Story Sponsored by Donna Keena, Christie's International Real Estate Group

Photograph by Miriam Dubinsky Photography

Imagine for a moment that you had never seen Nutley before. You moved here from another state on the recommendation of a friend. Now, several years later, you are still discovering all the wonderful places in town around every corner.

That pretty much sums up the experience of the Vail family. Making Nutley their home was the start of countless adventures as they explored every street, finding new favorite spots from businesses, to restaurants, to playgrounds filled with laughter.

But before Jeff and Colette arrived in Nutley, they each pursued their own careers which eventually led them to each other.

"Colette and I met in 2014 in New York City," Jeff said. "This past February was our tenth year together."

"Jeff proposed in Honolulu, Hawaii on the three-year anniversary of us meeting," Colette added.

At first, living in New York City was a great fit for the couple.

"I have a bachelor's degree and a master's degree in business administration from California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo," Jeff said. "I have worked in advertising my entire 14-year career and currently am a director of product development in AdTech in NYC."

"We lived there for six years in a 455 square foot apartment before moving here!" Colette said. "Over the time we were there, we saw some notable celebrities out and about which was fun. We went to many Knicks games where we had seats two rows back from court side. We attended concerts at Madison Square Garden and spent days with our friends from home or school who moved into the five boroughs."

Yet even though New York City is big and full of many things to do, Jeff and Colette wanted a home where their children could grow up.

"We live in the Avondale subdivision of Nutley," Jeff said. "We moved in September 2020. Funny thing is that one of Colette's former colleagues said to look in Verona for an easy city commute, and one of my colleagues suggested Nutley. We never ended up looking in Verona because we instantly fell in love with Nutley."

The family's Shiba Inu Penny

"There is so much to love here, like the small town feel and everything we need is accessible," Colette said. "The commute to New York City for Jeff is ideal, and the many children's programs Nutley provides is a dream for young families. We cannot wait until our girls are old enough to register them and really get more involved in the community."

Their daughters, Isla (3) and Mia (1), are already exploring the library and all the wonderful playgrounds in town.

"Our daughter Isla is talking up a storm and loves to dance!" Colette said. "We'll see in time what type of music she prefers but right now it's all kinds, from children's songs to Harry Styles to even rhythmic tapping sounds. She always wants to get on her feet and dance to it! Going to the local library for story time, frequent visits to the Turtle Back Zoo and, on nice days, spending time in one of our town's many playgrounds makes her happy. We're excited to find out what Mia's interests are but right now she loves smiling, watching her sister dance, and being with her family!"

Since Nutley, and even New Jersey, is new to Jeff and Colette, each outing becomes a way to explore more of what the state and town offers.

"We love visiting new places, like New Hope and walking the notorious bridge where you are in New Jersey and Pennsylvania at the same time!" Jeff said.

"Since we are both avid football fans, we participate in fantasy football leagues," Colette said. "We enjoy seeing our teams play at MetLife Stadium, but it can get a bit competitive in our household because Jeff is a Jets fan, and I am a Giants fan. But we are always equally disappointed!"

Yet, they both agree that there is something special about living on their block.

"We lucked out with our neighbors!" Jeff said. "Everyone has been very welcoming, and we have built some solid friendships. Our realtor, who is a Nutley native, really helped educate us on the town and how it truly is a hidden gem."

The Vail household also has one more family member that gives them lots of love and laughs.

"We have a 4-year-old Shiba Inu named Penny," Colette said. "She has a big personality, keeps us constantly entertained, and is extremely photogenic. We're jealous about that! She will do anything for treats, including balancing and walking on her hind legs!"

Speaking of treats, Jeff's former jobs were in restaurants, and he brings his skills to the Vail kitchen.

"I worked as host, waiter, bartender, and cook while I was in high school and college," he said. "I love cooking for the family most nights and can make a mean cocktail!"

While Jeff, Colette, Isla, and Mia Vail continue to find all the treasures in town around every corner, they just have one wish.

"We hope to become more involved in the community," Jeff said.

"We moved here during Covid, then had two children almost back-to-back but we're getting in a groove and meeting a lot of neighbors and making friends. We're looking forward to sharing this beautiful town and everything it has to offer with our Nutley Neighbors for a long time to come." ■

5 Things the Vail Family Loves About Nutley

1. The parks
2. The public library
3. Restaurants
4. Proximity to NYC
5. The events the town holds—the Fall Festival is one of our favorites!

Speak Strong is Bridging Literacy Gaps Through Teen Leadership

By Joyce Corey

As a youth-led initiative, Speak Strong provides free resources to under-privileged communities with a vision to mitigate the literacy problem prominent throughout America.

Three Nutley High School seniors, Aashi Bhandari, Riya Patel, and Sara Sonnylal are actively putting this goal into action through their concerted efforts in town.

Founder and Chief Executive Aashi Bhandari started this program to explore her passion for literacy and children's education.

"Speak Strong began in the spring of 2023 through a grant given by the Sistas Choosing Abundance initiative," Aashi said. "This grant allowed us to curate a one-day workshop focused on creating dozens of care packages for underprivileged students and was paired with a two-hour tutoring event. From there, Speak Strong partnered with the nonprofit Certified Angels to create monthly workshops at their afterschool program in Passaic. We created lesson plans with read-alouds, games, crafts, and worksheets that focused on specific skills regarding English culture and grammar. Over the summer, we continued these workshops as weekly events following a similar curriculum."

Riya Patel serves Speak Strong as the lead curriculum director with the responsibility of planning lessons and managing their schedule.

"We want to slowly help children improve their English literacy by targeting specific skills that are oftentimes reinforced in their schools," Riya said. "Our main purpose is to provide additional materials that will supplement their learning and help them develop their unique voices given the importance of communication in our society. We also want to expand our team to have different members specializing in specific aspects of our program to help develop and grow our brand. Our long-term goals include providing resources far beyond the New Jersey area to help students across the world that may not have adequate access to these materials. We hope to help students who may face language barriers at home to understand the importance of their culture and to overcome any hurdles they may face."

Sara Sonnylal manages their social media and is their marketing manager. She helps grow the program by serving as a spokesperson and interacting with the public.

"So far, our most successful program has been our workshops with Certified Angels," Sara said. "We found the students most engaged with the material and excited to do worksheets that improve their English literacy. We have made the most impact at these events by working with students from different backgrounds and accommodating their needs. With our recent partnership with the nonprofit Minds Beyond Measure, we plan to expand these workshops to refugee camps, foster homes, and homeless shelters, hopefully within the next few months."

As Speak Strong gains momentum in the community, Aashi Bhandari describes the obstacles these teen leaders face.

"The main obstacles we have are marketing and trying to expand our reach," she said. "Given our balance between schoolwork and Speak Strong, we are oftentimes struggling to find students and organizations interested in joining our effort." ■

Adopt Us!

Submitted by Nicole Milici, Jersey Pits Rescue Inc.

Our adorable micro-Boston Terrier is finally ready to find his forever home and family. Simon is the absolute sweetest little guy who has overcome so much in his short life. He was found abandoned outside in the cold at our local inner-city pound at just 8 weeks old! Now, at about 10 months old, he is ready to leave his incredible foster home and go into a forever home of his own.

Simon is crate trained and loves all people, older children, and other dogs. He is mostly housebroken but does use wee-wee pads if alone for long hours at a time. He does have some special needs and is looking for a home that is able to continue his care. He has a cleft palate and needs to be monitored while eating and also drinks from a water bottle (like a rabbit) so he does not aspirate.

If interested in adopting Simon, send us an email at jerseypitsrescue@gmail.com

Submitted by Christa Milici, Yellow Brick Road Rescue NJ

Lilo is a 5-month-old female. She is very sweet and would make the perfect addition to any family. She is being fostered with other cats and kittens. We are unsure how she is with dogs, but she is young enough to adjust to a cat-friendly dog. She is microchipped, FIV/FeLV negative, UTD on vaccines, and will be spayed.

$185 adoption fee and application required. To apply for Lilo email us at yellowbrickroadnj@gmail.com

Librarian Meets Rock Star … Thanks to a Book

By Joyce Corey

Senior Librarian Nick Van Dorn met Alex Van Halen at a recent book signing event. Nick, who has been a staff member at the Nutley Public Library for 23 years, is an avid fan of Alex and Eddie Van Halen, their music, and the band. At the book signing, Nick had the opportunity to discuss Alex's new book, Brothers, which he recommends in this month's Library Corner feature. ■

Crafted With Love

By Michelle Palmer

As we enjoy the holiday season, let's take a moment to appreciate the beauty of seeing our children create something special. Whether it is made from crayons, paint, clay, or beads, these crafts are full of love and that makes them the best of all.

Kellen got artsy and made this beautiful pumpkin picture at an art workshop through the Parks and Recreation department. He used pastels and his fingers to spread and shade his fall-themed picture which will be well loved for years to come.

Lilliana is 17 and showcases her creative energy through art. She is incredibly talented and painted this very realistic canvas of her sister. Her work not only brings her joy but many smiles to her family. Her artistic masterpiece is now a cherished treasure.

Audrey, age 5, had a lot of fun getting creative with a popular school project called "Disguise a Ghost." She used crayons and seashells to turn her ghost into a mermaid. This activity encouraged her to use her imagination and her sense of wonder as she created an adorably spooky new creature - the mermaid ghost.

Mattie, age 8, painted a pretty-in-pink pumpkin to represent one of her favorite animals. Her flamingo-decorated pumpkin reminds us of fall, the joy of summer, and even seeing these beautiful birds in Turtle Back Zoo. Her inspiration is creative and makes the heart happy. ■

Michelle Palmer is the author of a children's book, Brinco Finds His Way Home, which is available at Amazon.

Every Dollar Has a Job (and a Tax Rate)

Contributed by Michael S. Cocco, CFP®, ChFC® Beacon Wealth Partners

If you could create a bucket of money where you control the taxation, how valuable is that? Wouldn't you want to explore contributing to vehicles like this in addition to your traditional 401ks and IRAs? Let's discuss diversifying the taxation on your investments in addition to diversifying your investment asset class to help make your overall plan "tax smart."

What will the tax rates be in the future? Higher or lower than they are today?

No one knows! That's why we should look beyond traditional tax-deferred retirement plans such as 401ks and IRAs and create buckets of money that can be potentially accessed tax-free, such as Roth IRAs, Backdoor Roth IRAs, and cash value life insurance.

Let's explore a few examples of different types of accounts and how they are taxed.

Asset Allocation vs. Asset Location

ALLOCATION

Asset allocation is investing in different asset classes to help reduce your investment risk.

Asset allocation is the combination of asset classes in your portfolio such as stocks, bonds, and cash.

VS

Asset location is investing in different tax locations to help reduce your tax liability risk.

Asset location refers to the tax location you invested in when you withdraw your asset.

Investment allocation, reallocation, and rebalancing address the portfolio risks. Asset location focuses on the risk of taxation on distributions.

■ Tax-Deferred Retirement Plans When you have a tax-deferred retirement plan, the taxability of your future withdrawals is dependent upon the government tax rates at that time, as your withdrawals are taxed as ordinary income.

■ Taxable Brokerage Accounts Taxable brokerage accounts are funded with money you have already paid taxes on. Each year, you must pay taxes on dividends or interest from these accounts, even if you are reinvesting all dividends and interest. Capital gains tax is owed when you sell an investment and realize a gain.

■ Tax-Free Benefits of a Roth IRA Withdrawals from Roth IRAs are tax-free when certain conditions are met. This includes the money you put in (contributions) and any investment earnings. Plus, there is no mandatory minimum amount you must withdraw each year.

■ Cash Value Life Insurance Cash value life insurance gives you potential tax benefits: the money inside grows without immediate taxes, and you can access both principal and earnings potentially tax-free in the future, as long as you follow certain rules. This can be a valuable strategy for people who are not eligible to contribute to a Roth IRA.

Diversifying your investments across several types of asset classes and accounts may enhance your portfolio, helping you to control both risk and taxation. Strategically placing investments to minimize taxes can boost your after-tax earnings. Understanding how asset allocation can reduce risk and help you diversify, along with asset location to reduce taxes, can ensure that you are doing all you can to invest wisely.

If you would like to discuss this further and explore ways to use asset location as part of your overall wealth management plan, please reach out to us today. ■

Beacon Wealth Partners does not give tax advice, and you should seek the guidance and advice of your CPA, accountant, or tax professional, in addition to your financial advisor. Backdoor Roth IRAs are complicated vehicles that would require discussion with your personal tax advisor regarding your specific situation before taking any action or investing. Duly-registered and duly-licensed financial professionals of Beacon Wealth Partners offer securities through Equitable Advisors, LLC (NY, NY 212-314-4600), member FINRA/SIPC (Equitable Financial Advisors in MI & TN); offer investment advisory products and services through Equitable Advisors, LLC, an SEC registered investment advisor; and offer annuity and insurance products through Equitable Network, LLC (Equitable Network Insurance Agency of California, LLC in CA; Equitable Network Insurance Agency of Utah, LLC in UT; Equitable Network of Puerto Rico, Inc., in PR). Equitable Advisors and Equitable Network are affiliates and do not provide tax or legal advice or services. Beacon Wealth Partners is not owned or operated by Equitable Advisors or Equitable Network. The 50th Anniversary Celebration of The Kingsland Manor

By Linda Buset

The Historic Restoration Trust of the Township of Nutley was founded in 1974 in partnership with the Township of Nutley to restore and maintain the Kingsland Manor. Over the past 50 years, the Trust has carried out that mission. It has offered fun and educational activities from tours to classes to themed events, provided a venue for residents and groups, and contributed historical research and documentation.

To celebrate 50 years of accomplishments and the hundreds of volunteers and donors who made it all possible, the Board of Directors and volunteers worked on many celebratory events for its golden anniversary year.

In 1974, Kingsland Manor was the site of a ribbon-cutting ceremony on Sunday, April 28, at the historic house, which was owned by the Town of Nutley and opened to the public for the first time. It was the first opportunity the people of Nutley had to tour the manor and to speak with members of our Board of Commissioners.

On April 28, 2024, 50 years later, the Kingsland Manor held another ribbon-cutting ceremony with Mayor John Kelly, the present Board of Directors, and volunteers. Following the ribbon cutting, tours were given to all the guests, and everyone enjoyed ice cream sundaes on the patio. It was a joyous occasion.

Another highlight of this anniversary year was the Nutley Board of Commissioners issuing a proclamation on May 7 at Town Hall. Members of the Board of Directors of Kingsland Manor expressed their pride and gratitude for the unwavering support they always receive from our township.

The Trust was adopted by then Nutley Commissioners May 7, 1974, which followed two years of a determined effort by the town to purchase the Kingsland Manor and save it for future generations. The proclamation represents the recognition of the efforts of the town and all the volunteers in restoring and maintaining the Kingsland Manor and a continuing a commitment to the preservation of this important Nutley homestead.

As the grand finale to all the events, a 50th Anniversary Garden Party was held at the Kingsland Manor on Saturday June 15. The township was invited to celebrate all the accomplishments and to recognize the hundreds of volunteers and donors who restored the Kingsland Manor according to the Master Plan. The garden party was a beautiful tribute to everyone who worked so hard to pursue a dream and make it a reality for the past 50 years. There is still work to do to reach the goal of that Master Plan and the Board, with help from donors and the Township of Nutley, is certain to reach that goal.

"Teamwork makes the dream work," and for 50 years, with immense pride and a lot of challenging work, this has been proven to be true for our beautiful and historic Kingsland Manor. ■
